

The Liveability House is a project conceived by Dr Debra Sellers of Kansas State University and Dr. Sarah Kirby of NC State University. The goal of this initial project is: To tell people about design features and assistive technology that enable a person to live at home despite physical or mental challenges caused by aging, illness, or disability.

Access the Liveability House at <http://maps.secondlife.com/secondlife/Morrill/40/197/24>