

Development of an educational project in Second Life is highly creative and on the cutting edge of educational technology. Kudos to you for even thinking about it! You are a true pioneer! Our job is to guide you, inform you, and help to develop a plan for the project, then make your ideas come alive in the virtual world. We are currently developing a suggested work flow based on sound Instructional Systems Design and project management techniques. Check back here for this documentation soon. In the meantime, don't let that hold you up! Keep the creative juices flowing! If you have an idea in mind, drop an email to luann.phillips@extension.org .
